TO THE HIRING TEAM

Dear Team,

I'm writing because I want to teach yoga somewhere that treats the practice as something real: presence, breath, and progression — not just another slot on the schedule. I've been certified and teaching since 2019, starting with 1:1 sessions, then studios and corporate settings, and since 2022 at Mood Fitness (Murcia).

I design multilevel classes where safety and progression matter as much as a first-day student's experience. That approach took shape at Majorel, within the Google / YouTube project, where I taught corporate yoga and served as Wellness Ambassador for international teams — that's where I learned to adapt the practice for people who'd never stepped on a mat, without losing depth or rigor.

Before that, I spent three years teaching private 1:1 lessons, tailoring every session to mobility, stress, technique, or simply consistency. That foundation — teaching the person in front of me, not a generic class — is what I still apply today at Mood Fitness, and what I'd bring to your space.

I'd love to meet the team and talk about how my teaching style could fit into your classes.

Happy to talk whenever works for you.

PHILOSOPHY

*Honest, transformative classes: body, breath, and attention.
No posturing. Just method, warmth, and judgment.*
